

LIFE OF A FELLOW

Past and Present

Chloe Wang, MD
Fellow: 2019-2021
Current Position:
Assistant Professor of Surgery, Abdominal Transplant
Tampa General Medical Group
USF Health Morsani College of Medicine

Matthew Hunter Witt, MD
Fellow: 2021-2023
Current Position:
Assistant Professor of Surgery, Abdominal Transplant
Tampa General Medical Group
USF Health Morsani College of Medicine

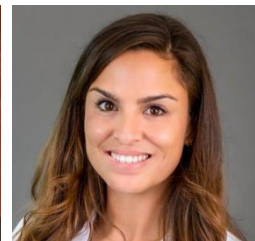

Vineeth Sudhindran, MD
Sr Fellow: 2024-2026
General Surgery Residency
Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota

Katherine McClain, MD
Junior Fellow: 2025-2027
General Surgery Residency
University of Kentucky

Alejandro Chavarriaga, MD
Fellow: 2022-2024
Previous Position:
Assistant Professor of Surgery, Abdominal Transplant
Emory University, School of Medicine

Tara Barry, MD
Senior Fellow: 2023-2025
General Surgery Residency
USF Health Morsani College of Medicine

Life in fellowship

At Tampa General, we take fellowship training very seriously, shaping top-tier surgeons ready to take on the world of transplants. But we know the best teams are built both inside and outside the OR! That's why we're big on fostering a sense of belonging with group outings, team events and opportunities to connect beyond scrubs and sterile fields. Whether it's cheering on the Tampa Bay Bolts, enjoying some sunshine on the bay or a casual dinner after a big day, our fellows are part of the TGH family — on and off the surgical floor!

LIFE OF A FELLOW

